CAPITAL OVER 350.000 DOLLARS,
AND CONSTANTLY INCREASING.
The Charter of this Company offers more favorable advantages to the farmer and others, than any Company chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note. If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in cash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one-eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay; or by becoming a monther and civing a good pay. member, and giving a small premium note, the inness, enables us to offer our services with confidence sured saves nearly one-half of the amount charged by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the com' ination of the CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE. This Company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 13th day of March, 1854, since which time over seven thousand seven hundred persons have insured and become members of the Company, and over seventy thousand dollars have been paid for losses. Having increased our business during the past year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prospeets of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe, that, by prudence, caution, and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation for cheapness and safety not surpassed by any Company in the U. States.

All differences in settlement of losses, may be determined by three disinterested arbitrators of the County where such loss happened, to be mutually chosen by the insured and the Company.

MISCELLANEOUS READING. HEALTH OF WOMEN.

No lady ever lived who was not fond of being admired, and proud of being thought handsome. What of that? they have a right to be so; and, indeed, we think it no sin, should they themselves have an intuitive knowledge of the fact. An erroneous idea exists with many young ladies, that beauty can exist without health, and to become pale and delicate is a condition to be desired: the thought of wearing the stout, robust appearance of health is simply ridiculous. Such foolish notions are almost invariably productive of premature wrinkles, gray hairs, decayed teeth, dull eyes, and bad complexions. Does the pale and delicate hue of the fading rose compare in loveliness and beauty to the pure, rich blush of the full blown rose, basking in the sun's warm rays, and sipping the morning's early dew? Health to all things gives beauty-it gives the temper. It brings a happy, merry laugh, and a heart full of joy and love. Instead, then, of pickles, candies, cosmetics, pomatums, etc., ect., exercise in the sun and the open air, hunt wild-flowers, and drink the sweets of nature's music-the rustling of the forest leaves and the melody of myriads of birds-walk in thick shoes, rise early, take a bath, and walk a mile, eat moderately, and neither exercise nor read for an hour afterwards, but laugh and talk; then read, laugh, waltz, or sew .- Mod.

BONAPARTE'S EARLY POVERTY.

M. Thiers, in his history of the Consulate, recites some very strange and previously unknown particulars respecting the early life and penury of Napoleon Bonaparte:

It appears that after he had obtained a subaltern's commission in the French service by his skill and daring at Toulon, he lived some time in Paris, in obscure lodgings, and in such extreme poverty, that he was often without the means of paying ten sous -ten cents-for his dinner, and frequently went without anything at all. He was under the necessity of borrowing sums and even worn out clothes, from his acquaintances! He and his brother Louis, afterwards King of Holland, had at one time only a coat between them, so that the brothers could only go out alternately, time and time about. At this crisis, the chief benefactor of the future emperor and conquerer, 'at whose mighty name the world grew pale,' was the actor, Talma, who often gave him food and money. Napoleon's face, afterwards so famed for its classical mould, was during that period of starvation, harsh and angular in its lineaments, with projecting cheek bones. His meagre ages, Challies, Lawns, Poil de Chevre, and a va-riety of other DRESS GOODS; also, the largest, cutaneous disease of a type so virulent and fare brought on an unpleasant and unsightly best, and cheapest stock of Collars and Setts ever | malignant, that it took all the skill and, assiduity of his accomplished physician, Coruisart, to expel it, after a duration of more than ten years.
